

We at V C & Co.

Do Follow

Five Major Professional Responsibilities

1. To put client interest ahead of firm interest.
2. To adhere to the highest standard of truthfulness, integrity, and trustworthiness.
3. To maintain in confidence, the private and proprietary information of client organization and any sensitive opinion of individuals within client organization.
4. To maintain an independent position, being ready to differ with client executive and to tell them the truth as we see it, even though that may adversely affect firm income or endanger continuance of the relationship.
5. To provide only services for which the firm is competent and that provide full value for the client.
